

CASE STUDY

Proud and Loud Arts “Cells – A Body of Work”

To achieve their first PEARL award our members created, a solo, live art, performance, exploring collective and individual identity. Each performer found a personal perspective to share and then worked out how to present it to a public audience. The projects were developed in a collaborative team environment enabling participants to demonstrate skills related to the Pearl constructs.

“Cells –a body of work” was first performed at Manchester Art Gallery in October 2017. It was a tremendous success and provided the settings for 10 of our members to achieve their first PEARL Awards.

“Proud & Loud Arts lets me do shows on stage which makes me happy. I enjoy travelling on tour. Doing the scenes in the workshops makes me feel good & happy.” – Michael Gleave

